

SERCO
CORPORATE HQ
Marion Macalpine

SERCO group plc is a British outsourcing company operating in 30 countries, holding £billions in UK government contracts, for amongst other things, transport, military weapons, prisons, schools and our NHS.

A criminal investigation into SERCO was launched by the Serious Fraud office last year. The company has lost a number of NHS contracts for various reasons, including falsification of data or offering sub-standard service.

'How come we didn't know?'

a photographic exhibition by Marion Macalpine

This exhibition brings together art photography with a key national issue: the accelerating privatisation of our NHS, the companies involved, and the consequences for us all of this shameful sell-off.

24-26 June

Brighthelm Centre, Brighton

The exhibition will be open between 11 and 7 30pm on Tuesday & Wednesday and until 9pm on Thursday

Tuesday
24 June
12pm

Formal press opening of the exhibition at 12pm by Caroline Lucas MP – all welcome.

Thursday
26 June
7.30pm

and a public meeting

Who are the Fat Cats of Health and who is paying the Price?

Brighthelm main auditorium (see over)

Who are the Fat Cats of Health and who is paying the Price?

The NHS runs down, multi-nationals profit, and health workers suffer. Find out how corporations tighten their grip – and how health workers and campaigners can fight it.

Public meeting:
Thursday
26 June
7.30pm
Brighthelm main auditorium

Speakers:

Linda Kaucher – Researcher on International Trade seeking to expose secrecy on EU US trade agreements. Involved in the StopTTIPuk campaign.

Ken Kirk – Chair of Brighton Keep Our NHS Public

Charles Harrity – GMB Southern Region, Senior Organiser.

Brighthelm centre:

North Road, Brighton BN1 1YD. 8 minutes' walk down Queen's Road from Brighton station.

Buses 7, 27, 50, 48, 6, 14, 37, 38, 77, 78, 79 down Queen's Road.

Exhibition and public event organised and hosted by Sussex Defend the NHS and Brighton KONHSP (Keep Our NHS Public)